Minister of Trade and Commerce Says Removal Of Embargoes by Canada and Russia Cannot Affect Trade With United Kingdom

OTTAWA, Oct. 7.—Nothing connected with removal of restrictions on Canadian trade with Russia conflicts in any way with the Canada-United Kingdom trade agreement, Hon. W. D. Euler, Minister of Trade and Commerce, stated today.

Mr. Euler is preparing for a trip to Australia and New Zealand. During the summer he visited Russia and arranged for a lifting of the ban placed on Russian trade by Canada some years ago. In return Russia removed the ban on imports from Canada.

SURPRISING ERROR
He said he had heard it suggested that this arrangement constituted a violation of the agreement.

MAY CAMPAIGN FOR MEMBERS

Labor Council Considers Sponsoring Combined Drive Of All Unions

A combined membership drive for all unions on Vancouver Island, as an important step in consolidating the position of labor, was being considered by the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council, providing a committee appointed last night recommends it after investigation.

The matter was considered after council delegates heard Patrick Driscoll, organizer for the newly-formed Vancouver branch, Truck Drivers' union, make an appeal for such action. The speaker contended that simultaneous membership drives by existing unions would result in greater success, and he suggested the council encourage the organization of non-union crafts.

Charles Chivers explained the local building trades were now conferring with the Government with a view to having the Provincial Legislature pass an act similar to the Ontario Industrial Act. Under such an act, employers and employees come to an agreement on working conditions, hours and pay. The Government then sees that the agreement is lived up to. Once such an act was passed here, and trade could come under it by application to the Government, Mr. Chivers explained.

DEFENCE ISSUES ARE BEING FACED

Mackenzie stated in an interview with the press. Specialists from the War Office would arrive on Friday to go over the ground in person. It was learned, accompanied by garrison and naval officials, the Minister made a personal inspection of defences in a cruise to the Royal Roads, Esquimalt, and elsewhere. He kept his impressions to himself, but repeated assurances that Victoria and Vancouver Island would have no cause to complain when the final plan was tabled.

OUTLINES POLICY
Turning to the subject of Canada as an integral part of the British Empire and her obligations in that respect, Mr. Mackenzie, himself a war veteran, made the following comment: "Our defence policy for Canada is not a dictated policy. It is a policy for the defence of Canada in peace, or in the eventuality of war. Since taking office I have been governed by a policy based upon the general interest of Canada; the security and welfare of our Canadian people and homes, and due regard for any obligations that may be ours."

"At the Imperial Conference of 1923, reaffirmed in 1926, it was decided that the primary responsibility of each portion of the Empire is for its own local defences. The principles that have emerged from various Imperial conferences are as follows: (1) Each self-governing portion of the Empire is primarily responsible for its own local defence. (2) The security of the Empire is a matter of concern to all its governments. (3) The military action taken at any time in peace or war is a matter for individual decision on the part of each Empire government. In Canada it is most definitely a matter for decision by the Canadian Parliament.

"Our responsibilities are the maintenance of internal security; the preservation of strict neutrality; law and order within our territorial waters in time of peace; and protection of our coasts and sea-borne trade in time of war."

A RUSSIAN CARGO
BERLIN, Oct. 8.—Russia's charge that assistance had been given Spanish Fascists by Germany, Italy and Portugal was not mentioned in the German press today. Instead, the papers printed, under a Paris date line, a story reporting the arrival at Alicante, Spain, of the Soviet steamship Neva, which was said to have unloaded a cargo under cover of darkness. The dispatch said the shipment was declared by the vessel's officers to be 1360 cases of dry fish, which proved to be rifles, 4000 boxes in which there was said to be corned beef, but which actually contained cartridges, and 1,200 boxes of supposed hides, which proved to be cloth for uniforms and military belts.

Assessment on Old Buildings In Saanich Cut

AFTER deliberating for nearly three hours last night, the Saanich Council, sitting as a committee of the whole, decided to cut the assessment by 10 per cent on all buildings erected prior to 1930. This recommendation will be submitted to the council for endorsement. The loss to the municipality, although not definitely announced, was said to be small. It was also decided that all buildings in Saanich would be revalued shortly.

HEALEY MUST SERVE TERM

Court of Appeal Dismisses Plea Put Forward on Behalf Of Prisoner

The Court of Appeal here yesterday afternoon dismissed the plea of Fred M. Healey from a conviction and sentence of fifteen years, after being found guilty at the Vancouver Assizes last April of assisting in the escape of four men wanted for the slaying of a bank teller, during a holdup last January.

C. Carmichael appeared for the appellant and A. B. Macdonald was counsel for the Crown, and argument continued through most of the day's sitting. Healey was the proprietor of premises on Tenth Avenue, Vancouver, and was charged with having driven the four men, wanted for murder, to premises on Eleventh Avenue. He was arrested and brought to trial and convicted by a jury.

The appellant's case was based on the question of guilty knowledge, his counsel claiming there had been no evidence presented to the jury to show that Healey knew the men he was assisting were wanted for the murder of the bank teller.

SCHOOL BOARD SURPLUS SEEN

Saanich Trustees May End Year With $958 Credit Balance, Report Shows

By stringent economy, the Saanich school board may conclude the year with a surplus of $958, according to the financial statement to September 30, issued at a board meeting last night.

It was shown, up to September 30 all expenditures were within the estimates for the year. The requirement for teachers' salaries to the end of the year was fixed at $24,217.50. There was a balance of $27,042 left from the estimated requirement of $51,259.50 for the year. $58,560 having already been spent on salaries, the board was told. From this source a credit balance of $2,824.50 was anticipated.

TO EXCEED ESTIMATES
Smaller credit balances to bring the total to $3,841.49 were anticipated by the board on other expenditures. To offset this, however, fuel, office and general accounts were expected to exceed the estimate, leaving a debit of $744.38. Required grants of $1,939 from the Provincial Government brought the expected net credit balance to $958.11.

Revenue for the nine months' period, the report showed, was $81,887. This was made up of $55,412 from the municipal treasury, $25,103 salary grants, and $1,290 in transportation grants.

Accounts totaling $14,629 for August and September were approved for payment. The board also decided to rent the Lake Hill hall for the use of Mount View High School basketball players.

REQUIRE BY-LAW ON PIPE-LAYING PLAN

A letter to the City Council from H. S. Pringle, city solicitor, yesterday said that a special by-law would be required if permission were given to David Spencer Limited to lay a pipe under Broughton Street, to connect the Weiler Building with the existing heating system of the departmental store. Application for the pipe line was sought by Percy Fox, local architect.

SAANICH TAX COLLECTIONS EXCEED 1935

Big Increase Is Noted In Returns to Treasury to September 30

EXPECT TO REALIZE ESTIMATED REVENUE

With taxpayers lined up at the cash wicket daily to meet obligations before the first 3 per cent penalty for non-payment of current taxes goes into effect on Tuesday, October 13, tax returns in Saanich were higher at September 30, by $10,832, than for the same period in 1935, finance officials at the Royal Oak Municipal Hall reported yesterday.

To September 30, this year, a total of $69,525 was paid into the municipal treasury on current taxes, as compared with $58,690 for the same period last year. This was an increase of $10,835.

TAX ARREARS
Arrears of taxes paid this year for the nine months' period were $18,560, against $17,004 to September 30, 1935. This was an increase of $1,556. Delinquent returns this year were up $102, $25,809 having been collected against $25,707 for the same period in 1935.

A decrease of $1,928 in receipts of property in the municipal tax sale was reported by officials. Last year for the nine months' period, property valued at $10,766 was taken over by Saanich, while this year, value of the property acquired was $9,480. Property sold to outside purchasers in the 1935 sale totaled $4,298, while this year the total was $4,355.

COLLECTION PERCENTAGE
The percentage of current tax collections in 1935 was 82.21 per cent, officials said, while for 1936 the budget was set on an estimated collection of 83 per cent.

"From present appearances, the 1936 revenue estimate will easily be reached, if not surpassed. There

CONVICTED OF THEFT AND MANSLAUGHTER

TORONTO, Oct. 7.—Although only a passenger in the stolen auto that killed a pedestrian at the end of a police chase last July, Peter Stroych was convicted of manslaughter and automobile theft by an Assize jury yesterday. He was remanded until Friday for sentence.

Frank Connolly, the driver of the car, at whose side Stroych sat during the police chase, was convicted a few days ago on a similar charge.

PUEBLA, Mexico, Oct. 7.—Delayed reports from Ixcaxtilla said 110 armed outlaws rode into the town Sunday and turned their guns on fiesta celebrants.

Policemen Felicitia Cristino and Julian Torres, a bystander, were killed before residents who returned the invaders' fire drove the attackers off.

Colorado Racketeers Pretend to Perform Surgical Operations

Organized Bands Reported to Be Reaping Harvest Of Dollars in Rural Areas by Posing as Eye Specialists

DENVER, Oct. 7 (AP).—A new type of "racket," involving organized bands of men who pretend to perform surgical operations, has Federal agents on the jump. Charles T. Hansen, chief postoffice inspector here, said today the gangs, depending on surgeon's scalps instead of guns, are reaping a harvest of dollars, particularly in the rural areas.

The inspectors said it was a nationwide "racket" and several Federal law enforcement agencies have joined to "stamp it out."

"Most of the victims of the pseudo surgeons have been persons suffering from eye troubles," Hansen said. "Most of the gangs apparently are operating with 'finger-men' who travel about the country selling cheap eyeglasses. When the 'finger-man' finds a customer for a cheap pair of glasses, he tips off other gang members."

APPEAR BY ACCIDENT
"In a few weeks they come through the district and, making their appearance at the home of a victim appear accidental, relate that they are eye specialists. Then the 'eye specialist' tells the victims they are suffering from a serious eye disease, such as cataract or cancer."

"In many cases they have convinced the 'patient' he should submit to an operation, and the 'specialist' collects an exorbitant fee. The operation, of course, is faked and the patient is not benefited, for actually he has been suffering from no serious trouble."

"Goodness! How fat Betty is getting!"

"That's because she daily doesn't."

HE GETS ORDERS by LONG-DISTANCE TELEPHONE

WHILE competitors are writing letters or travelling in person, this man is using the long-distance telephone service to get orders from out-of-town customers. He finds it a quick and economical way to do business.

Of what importance is the quality of your product or the strength of your sales argument, he asks, if your competitor reaches the buyer first and makes the sale before you get there?

So this man makes a practice of "getting there first" by long-distance telephone.

STRIKE THREAT IN LAKE PORTS

Freight Handlers at Port Arthur and Fort William Favor Walkout

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., Oct. 7 (AP).—A strike threat overhanging the busy docks of Port Arthur and its neighboring lakehead city, Fort William, tonight, with a complete tie-up of freight-handling activity in the two ports a possibility.

With an announced 87 per cent of the freight handlers in favor of a stoppage of work if their dispute with the Canadian National Railways and the Western Stevedore Company is not settled quickly, the men turned to Transport Minister Howe for a decision.

According to J. J. Ratcliffe, representative of the men's union, the companies have refused to accept the ruling of a board of arbitration which, last July 30, favored wage increases and improved working conditions. The changes proposed by the board were to have gone into effect August 1.

DEFENDERS DIG IN FOR FINAL FIGHT
Government force between two bodies of insurgent troops.

Officials admitted Fascist artillery fire had cut communications on the western front between Government outposts and the supply base at Cerebreros.

TAUNTING GOVERNMENT
BURGOS, Spain, Oct. 7 (AP).—Insurgent military leaders tonight taunted the Socialist Government for "impotent" counter-attacks on the Fascist troops slashing toward Madrid.

The insurgent advance, they said, had been purposely delayed to see what strength the Madrid Government could muster against them.

The counter-attacks were ineffective, the Fascists said, and the big push on the capital is now under way, with its most advanced units only twenty miles from the objective and still driving forward.

CONCENTRATING MOVEMENTS
General Francisco Franco, the supreme military leader, was said tonight to be concentrating his troops' movements on Madrid itself, believing the Government-held cities of Bilbao and Santander would fall before units of General Emilio Mola in the northeastern sector near France.

The final assault upon Madrid would probably be launched this week-end, the insurgent leaders declared, if their troops continue the speed of their present drive.

Fascists tonight were encamped in Santa Cruz Del Retamar area, their detachments patrolling the captured towns of Santa Cruz, Huelmo and Portillo on the southwestern Madrid front.

REGULATIONS CRITICIZED

Trades and Labor Council to Protest Increase in Number of Working Hours

Protests will be lodged by the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council with the Provincial Industrial Relations Board regarding recent regulations permitting extension of drug store employees' hours, making a nine-hour working day, and permitting mercantile industries, outside principal cities, to work three extra hours on each day preceding a holiday.

The council, at a meeting last night, also decided to investigate a report that in some city stores department managers are often compelled to work several hours after closing time without extra compensation.

Fred Oliver reported for a special committee that Hon. George S. Pearson, Minister of Labor, had been interviewed in regard to a complaint that certain Up-Island loggers camps had in the past brought up loggers from Victoria, instead of re-employing men in the district who had previously worked at the camps. The minister promised to call a meeting of the employers' committee and would advise the committee of the meeting.

PROTEST CHARGES

The council endorsed a resolution of the Canadian Defence Conference protesting against the arrest of some time ago in Ontario of nine charged with kidnapping and eighty-nine charged with partaking in an unlawful assembly, and urging these charges be withdrawn. Copies of the resolution will be forwarded to Premier, Hepburn, of Ontario, and Prime Minister Mackenzie King and other Government officials.

E. A. Moores and J. W. Irwin were sworn into the council as credited delegates of the Victoria branch, International Longshoremen's Association.

In the last two months, unions in the district had increased membership from 688 to 900, with the addition of the International Longshoremen's Association, and the Lumber and Sawmill Workers' Union.

VICTORIA OMITTED

Omission of a Victoria representative on the Trades and Labor Council of Canada British Columbia executive, while Vancouver had three, will be protested by the local council.

Favor was expressed with the request from T. H. Eslick, general secretary of the Tourist Trade Development Association, that the council co-operate with officials in charge of the Winter Fair to be held at the Armories from October 26 to 31 inclusive.

A lengthy debate was held by the members over superannuation schemes.

Vancouver Barrister and Cafe Proprietor Acquitted of Attempting to Dissuade Witness

VANCOUVER, Oct. 7 (AP).—John A. Sutherland, Vancouver barrister, and Gus Thodou, Vancouver cafe proprietor, were acquitted by Judge J. C. McIntosh in County Court today on a charge of attempting to dissuade a witness from giving evidence in a criminal case.

Albert C. Armour, thirty-six, who was charged with Sutherland and Thodou, was convicted and sentenced to a one-year imprisonment, the sentence to run concurrently with a four-year term imposed when Armour pleaded guilty to a charge of conspiring to defraud James Campbell, retired Stratford, Ont., railway employee, of $7,380.

The Crown alleged that Sutherland, Thodou and Armour attempted to dissuade Campbell from giving evidence against Armour when the latter appeared for trial on the fraud charge.

"John Sutherland, you are discharged without any reflection on your personal or professional honor," said Judge McIntosh in dismissing the barrister.

Describe New Science Useful in Extraction Of Precious Metals

Mineralography Demonstrated to Delegates of Canadian Institute—Already of Great Assistance To Mining Industry

VANCOUVER, Oct. 7 (CP).—"Mineralography," a new science in the mining world designed to assist mining operators in their work of extracting precious metals, was described and demonstrated to delegates of the British Columbia division of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy meeting here today.

In a darkened room pictures of hiding places of particles of gold among base minerals were shown, magnified many times, while Dr. M. H. Haycock, of the Dominion Department of Mines, and Dr. H. V. Warren, of the University of British Columbia, stood in the background and described the new science.

POLISH SPECIMENS

Specialty constructed instruments were used to polish ore specimens to the finest surface possible and these are magnified many times by powerful glasses, for scientific study.

In this way, the two doctors said, the new science has already become of great assistance to the mining industry, and promises to become still more valuable in determining the best treatment for gold extraction and mineral separation generally.

So far as is known, Dr. Warren's paper represented the first attempt to co-ordinate and classify the studies that have been made in the new field in British Columbia.

DISCOVERS GOLD

The paper showed that through deposits already examined, it is possible to state whether gold is present either as native gold or as gold-silver telluride. Further, Dr. Warren's paper added, it is found that in both these types the precious mineral has crystallized in one of two ways, either continuously with other metallic minerals, or as a part of a relatively young period of mineralization, the minerals of which usually occur in veins in fractured older minerals.

The two exponents of the new science were followed by W. R. McClelland, of the ore-dressing division of the Dominion Mines Department, who detailed treatment investigations of various ores, a service free to the industry.

Court of Appeal Victoria Sittings

Present: The Chief Justice, McPhillips and McQuarrie, J.J.A.

Wong Soon et al. v. S. Garb: Appeal from the judgment of Thompson C.J. in the trial rendered on the 22nd of April, 1936.

An action was brought in the Supreme Court to recover the premises in question, for damages for trespass and for an accounting arising out of the breach of certain covenants in the lease, and by consent an order was made pursuant to Section 24 of the County Courts Act that the action should be tried in the County Court. The matter was so tried and on June 18, 1934 judgment was given in favor of the plaintiffs, giving damages for the loss of the premises and the cost of $50 a month, directing that certain things be done and leaving certain other matters to the registrar.

From this judgment an appeal was taken and it was held by the Court of Appeal that the County Court Act did not authorize the making of an agreement or order and that the hearing was in reality an arbitration, and that the court had therefore no jurisdiction to hear an appeal. Wong Soon et al. vs. Garb, 49 B.C.R. 456. This finding was made on January 31, 1935.

An application was made on June 19, 1935, to the Honorable Mr. Justice McDonald and an order made that the findings of June 18, 1934, be enforced in the same manner as a judgment. From this order an appeal was taken. Wong Soon et al. vs. Garb, 50 B.C.R. 310, and it was held by the Court of Appeal reversing the judgment of McDonald, J., that the procedure by action upon an award is one that ought to be pursued, where the objections raised are such as to render the validity of the award a matter of doubt. This is not a case where the right to proceed on the award is so clear that leave should be given to enforce it in a summary manner. From that point on the matter rested. Nothing was done by the defendant to remedy the wrong which he had committed. The plaintiffs still have no means of recovering or regaining their premises, which have not been in use since June 1934.

This action was brought for damages for the wrongful acts of the defendant since June 18, 1934, and is clearly within the jurisdiction of the court. The judge held that there existed a continuing cause of action and under the authorities that cause of action arises from day to day until the trespass ceases. He could see no reason to change his opinion as given on June 18, 1934. The trespass has still continued and the defendant very frankly stated that he would not do anything at all to carry out the findings made on that date in establishing a means of regaining and regaining into the plaintiffs' rooms through the premises which he built up abutting the premises known as the Nu-Way Cafe.

There will be judgment for the plaintiffs for $1000 as prayed with costs.

Defendant appeared and the argument is now proceeding.

M. B. Jackson, K.C., for appellant; D. M. Gordon for respondent.

Today's Peremptory List: Wong Soon et al. vs. Garb et al.; Nicol vs. Heath; Diamond vs. Wilson.

MUSICAL FILM IS ON ATLAS SCREEN

Adolphe Menjou Plays a Leading Role in the Gay Comedy Hit, "Sing, Baby, Sing"

Many of the lines that Adolphe Menjou speaks in "Sing, Baby, Sing," Twentieth Century-Fox picture, at the Atlas Theatre currently, he has known for years. And, although they are extremely well written, the dialogue writer who is responsible, gets to screen credit.

The author was the famous English playwright and poet, William Shakespeare, and it is from his famous works, "Romeo and Juliet" and "Hamlet," that several of Menjou's lines are culled.

Menjou's part in the picture is that of a tired and overworked celebrity who comes to New York to relax by going on one continental spree. In Alice have he finds the ideal target at which to hurl the lines of the balcony scene from "Romeo and Juliet"—and there the fun begins.

Gregory Ratoff, Ted Healy, Patsy Kelly, Michael Whalen, the Ritz Brothers are also featured in "Sing, Baby, Sing."

DOMINION Having proved their success as a romantic team in "Honey for Love" last season, Gene Raymond and Ann Southern are together again in RKO Radio's "Walking On Air," a high-speed saga of a rocky romance culminated with several turbulent incidents, now showing at the Dominion Theatre. CAPITOL, Freddie March, who has the stellar role in "Anthony Adverse," the Warner Bros. picture now showing at the Capitol Theatre, had stilled a move to pool the movie pools. It is a plan by which stars may enjoy the privileges of a fine swimming pool without the terrific cost of maintaining an individual one. According to March's plan a plot of property will be bought, a pool installed on a co-operative basis and maintained on a share-for-share basis by the pool members.

Strong Cast in Oak Bay Picture

A bumper programme of entertainment will be provided today, Friday and Saturday at the Oak Bay Theatre. Clark Gable, Loretta Young and Jack Oakie are seen in Jack London's immortal tale of Klondike days, "Call of the Wild." The film, which was shot amid the picturesque beauty of Mount Baker, Wash., brings to the screen all the excitement of gold rush days. As an added entertainment feature, there is presented, on the stage, a short comedy, "Mr. Rampson."

Variety Show to Play at Empire

A superb stage show direct from the leading variety theatres of United States will appear for a Thanksgiving performance at the Empire Theatre, starting with a special midnight matinee, Sunday night, and continuing through Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights. Seeking to stave off the threat of radio competition piano manufacturers put their heads together and devised this ultra modern piano. In a beautiful ultra green lge. it is small, compact and has a folding keyboard. It is also credited with perfect tone despite its lack of size.

PLAZA PRESENTS INTRIGUING FILM

Ursula Parrott's "Next Time We Love" Starring Margaret Sullivan and James Stewart

Swift has been the success of Ursula Parrott, author of the sensational novel from which Universal made "Next Time We Love," starring Margaret Sullivan, now at the Plaza Theatre.

Miss Parrott began to write in 1929, her first novel being "Ex-Wife." She followed up with the successful "Strangers May Kiss" and a long list of novels which made their way to the screen.

"Next Time We Love" is considered by many the most dramatic story Miss Parrott has written. It shows the difficulties of a modern woman (Margaret Sullivan), married to a foreign correspondent (James Stewart) whose duties carry him to far countries. The author's personal research enabled her to write with authenticity.

The screen adaptation was done by Melville Baker, Massachusetts-born author who is considered one of the most skillful of scenarists.

Railroad Drama Is at Columbia

As the danger defying a young railroad worker who whipsawed by preference, but who could shout when he wanted to, George O'Brien returns to the screen in an action-filled story, "Whispering Smith Speaks," now at the Columbia Theatre.

The plot of the story revolves about the love that arises between George O'Brien, working as a railroad man, and Irene Ware, who manages a dilapidated old railway. She has no way of knowing that he is really the son of the president of the great trans-continental railroad system and tries to hold back from falling in love with him.

The climax of the picture shows how the young adventurer turns a whole railroad system upside down, and races a switch engine desperately for hundreds of miles, when his girl is in danger.

MAY ABANDON COURT ISSUE

Finance Committee Not in Favor of Proceeding With Injunction Appeal

Believing the costs of appeal may be excessive, the finance committee of the council were present, and it was then agreed that further proceedings in the city's refunding mission to London, be abandoned.

The finance committee held a meeting yesterday afternoon at which a majority of the members of the council were present, and it was then agreed that further proceedings in the courts might be unwise.

The order of the Supreme Court Judge restraining the City Council from entering into an agreement with its fiscal agent, C. S. Henley, in so far as the agreement had to do with the payment of expenses of the delegation. At a council meeting, subsequent to the court order, the undertaking was redrafted and the error rectified, the delegation later proceeding to London to negotiate for a reduction of interest on city bonds held in the Old Country.

RACE TO INCREASE FORTS IS FORESEEN

 The main proposal was sent by the British office to Japan. State Department officials in the absence of Secretary Hull, declined to discuss the probable contents of the American answer to the British proposal.

Secretary Swanton's declaration was generally accepted, however, as the navy's attitude that if Japan inaugurates a programme of fortification of the North Pacific islands under her control, the United States must do likewise.

"We'll have to wait and see what happens," Swanton said.

INTENDED AS CHECK

LONDON, Oct. 7 (AP).—Diplomatic observers tonight expressed belief Great Britain's soundings on the United States-Japanese Pacific Ocean defence status quo were intended to check any Japanese intention of strengthening bases on the Gulf of Tartary or in the East China Sea.

The Gulf of Tartary is an arm of the Pacific Ocean between the island of Sakhalin and Siberia, connecting on the north with the Sea of Okhotsk and opening on the south into the Sea of Japan.

It was said reports were current the Japanese intended extension of defences in these areas after lapse of three-power naval agreement next December 31.

Great Britain, it was said already facing huge expenditures for rearmament because of the European situation, was desirous of avoiding any new Pacific defence outlay.

Enjoyable Music at Tea Party

The lovely home of Mrs. G. R. Fleming, Hollywood Crescent, made a delightful setting for the tea given yesterday by Victoria Chapter, No. 17, Order of the Eastern Star. The afternoon was ideal for the party and the Olympics and surrounding islands could be seen to advantage from the reception room.

The hostess with Mrs. H. Willshire, the worthy matron, received the guests and they and the convener and performing artists all wore charming corsage bouquets.

FINE PROGRAMME

Throughout the afternoon, a programme of music was enjoyed. Mrs. J. H. Grant included in her group of songs "Just A-Wearying of You," "Passing By," "Bird Songs at Evening" and "When Song Is Sweet." Mrs. James Slater chose an appealing group, her selections being "Annie Laurie," "Comin' Through the Rye," "Mother Machree" and "Let's Sing Again." Mrs. J. D. Pearce, a visitor from Redwood, Calif., contributed to the entertainment by singing "Little Damsel," "Upon a Gay Morning," "Brown Bird Singing" and "Danny Darling." The soloists were accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Cyril H. Cross. Two pianoforte solos were played by Eleanor Hourston, her numbers being "German Dance No. 3," by Brahms, and "Waltz in A Flat," by Brahms.

The tea table presented a sparkling effect, covered with an Italian cut-work cloth centred with a mirror upon which stood a tall yellow candle in a unique purple cellophane holder and at a diagonal line were two purple candles in silver scones. Presiding at the tea was Mrs. J. W. Wormald and pouring coffee was Mrs. L. Batchelor, while waiting upon the guests were Mrs. Jack Uteridge and Mrs. S. Neville.

CONVENES PARTY

Mrs. A. H. Hourston was the convener of the tea and was responsible for the very enjoyable party. At the door was Mrs. M. Sheppard, together with Mrs. L. Neelands, who was managing the contest for the dressed doll.

Her Limbs Were Almost Crippled

Suffered With Sciatica for 25 Years

Those who are subject to sciatica should read this letter from one who suffered for years before she found out how to obtain relief.

"For 25 years I suffered from sciatica in my right side, and I had backaches which forced me to remain in bed for two or three weeks at a time. When I got up in the mornings, my arms and legs used to pain me almost unbearably. One day I heard of Kruschen Salts. I took a bottle of them without feeling much improvement. I tried a second bottle, and that time I felt better—I have kept on taking Kruschen ever since." (Mrs.) H.L.

The pains of sciatica are frequently caused by an excess of uric acid in the body. Two of the ingredients of Kruschen Salts are notable for their work in dissolving uric acid. "Other ingredients of these salts assist the internal organs to expel the dissolved acid from the system."

EDUCATION IN B.C. DISCUSSED

Rev. Robert Connell, M.P., Says Character Training Important

In the third of a series of addresses given on the Mainland yesterday, Rev. Robert Connell, Leader of the Opposition in the Legislature, dealt with education. He advocated the teaching of botany and geology as practical subjects in the schools, and stressed the need for technical and adult education. Character, he declared, and the ability to think, were prime requisites in any system of preparation for life. Mr. Connell said, in part:

"We are standing, as it were, on the threshold of a new life. Great and profound changes are taking place already, and will increasingly come as we move forward intelligently into more just distribution of the community's wealth. To face these changes intelligently we require not less but more education, and we need it far more widely diffused. Democracy demands an educated people."

WORLD MOVEMENT

"The world is moving in spite of temporary lapses in the direction of definite planning of resources, both on national and international lines, towards the removal of the settlement of disputes from the sphere of national violence to that of international justice, and towards the elimination of economic classes. The successful attainment of these ends demands in every country, and not least in ours, a high standard of well-proportioned education."

Education should be free to those who could absorb it, but children should not be forced by their parents to take studies unsuited to their own requirements. Mr. Connell commented at another point. He advocated the teaching of a trade to every boy and girl, as a means of spreading knowledge of the use of tools and eliminating a tendency to overwork the white collar professions.

The test of education, the Leader of the Opposition concluded, was its result, and that should be demonstrated in the character of a people and their treatment of their natural opportunities.

Fashion Goes "High Hat" For Autumn Season

Most of the high hats for the Autumn have crowns which can be modified to suit the wearer, says an article in The Times (London). Sports and tailored brimmed shapes in felt have high-blocked conical crowns. The brims are small and flat, or slightly lifted on one side, and short at the back; the trimming is generally a tailored feather quill or sweeping pheasant's plume, set to accentuate the forward line.

On a copper-colored felt hat the irregularly squared high crown is drawn over to one side and held by a blue peterham knot; the same color bands the crown. A dark brown antelope felt hat has a model, elegantly high crown, moulded to a cone in the front, and sloping sharply away to a short back, where it is finished with suede straps and a tab of hunter's green.

VIZOR BRIMS

By contrast there are cap shapes with vizor brims; the crown and the brim jut to a squared line in front. A single feather quill is pinned at the back. Small spots, bouffants, cut with right-angled sides, look well in the fine wool material.

Mr. Griffin had spent an anxious afternoon at the office, and hurried home at an unusually early hour.

"How do you feel, dear? What did the doctor say?" he questioned his wife as she lay on the couch, her eyes half closed.

"Oh, he asked me to put out my tongue," she murmured.

"And after looking at it he said 'Overworked'."

Mr. Griffin heaved an audible sigh of relief. "I have perfect faith in the doctor, Mabel," said he firmly. "You will have to give it a rest."

SUGGESTION

Taking about suggestion, there is a story of Rodin—but let Anatole France tell.

Rodin had just finished an immense statue of the poet Victor Hugo, standing upright on the crest of a rock, with Muses and Ocean but tore his beard with despair. He was circling about him. One morning the sculptor brought a troupe of journalists to his studio to contemplate the new work. Unhappily, the evening before, he had left the window open, and as a terrible storm had broken out during the night, a stream of water had poured into the studio. Victor Hugo had fopped down into a sea of mud.

Rodin opened the door and all around him he beheld the disaster. He all of a sudden thought of the powerful force of suggestion. A word—derived from the Latin roots—sub plus genere—meaning "to carry to bring, or to put under."

From a purely physical sense, there developed quite naturally the psychological significance of something brought or introduced indirectly to the mind, or caused to be thought of by the agency of other objects—among others, fame, reputation.

Do you think so? Rodin asked.

"Of course. It is the masterpiece of suggestion."

AN IRISHMAN'S WORD IS NEVER DOUBTED

MONTREAL, Oct. 7.—Paddy Carver, whose worldly wisdom was destroyed in the foundering of the freighter Avoon River in Hudson Bay, doesn't contemplate any difficulty in reaching an insurance settlement.

In the southern part of Ireland a mass word is always taken, said Paddy today when commenting on a £10 claim he intends to register. To doubt it would be the highest insult.

Some twenty-four years ago Paddy was shipwrecked near Santa Maria Island off the Argentine. He neglected to place a claim, but nevertheless four years ago he received a cheque for £10.

A Munich man threw his wife out of a top-story room three times in one week. One of these days he will go too far.

TAKE TRIAL IN HIGHER COURT

John McLean and Robert Watson Committed by Police Magistrate On Serious Charge

John McLean and Robert Watson, charged with having in their possession a case of fishing spoons, etc., of over the value of $25, knowing the same to have been stolen, will go to the higher court for trial. They took their preliminary hearing in the city police court yesterday, submitting no evidence for defence, and were committed for trial by Magistrate Henry C. Hall.

George Patton, the owner of the case testified to the value of it being $100. It had been taken from his automobile while the machine was parked on Langley Street on Sunday, September 27.

Chan Kee, a Chinese second-hand dealer on Johnson Street, testified that the two accused had come into his place on Monday, September 28. They wanted $10 for the case, but finally sold it for $2.50. McLean did the bargaining and took the money, he testified. Later, McLean came back with another man and tried to take the case from the Chinese dealer. The latter was knocked down in the affray. Some friends of the dealer came in and helped the witness to drive McLean away. Detective Fearon Woodburn told of the arrest of the accused and locating the missing case.

CAR TRAVEL FIGURES CONTINUING TO SHOW INCREASE FOR YEAR

In the last nine months ending September 30, 25,299 foreign and Canadian cars, carrying 70,207 passengers, were handled by the customs officers at Victoria and Sidney, according to figures handed to the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau.

During the nine months, 20,149 foreign automobiles passed through Victoria and Sidney ports; an increase of 6,770 cars over the 1935 figure, or 30 per cent. gain. These automobiles carried 55,892 foreign passengers, an increase of 19,310, or 52.4 per cent.

The same ports in that period handled 5,150 Canadian cars, an increase of 728 cars, or 16.2 per cent. They carried 14,315 Canadian passengers, being an increase of 2,824 or 22.2 per cent.

LEGISLATURE OF QUEBEC MEETS

Throne Speech Forecasts Legislation of Social and Agrarian Nature

QUEBEC, Oct. 7 (C.P.).—Quebec Province's twentieth Legislature opened its first session today, an "emergency" session which the Throne speech forecast would bear on appropriations for the current fiscal year, and "a few of the most pressing measures."

These include, said the Throne speech, legislation looking to the "protection and safeguard of human capital," and agrarian reforms as the main business.

Lieutenant-Governor Patenaude, reading the speech from the Throne, outlined the work the Union Nationale as the Government of Premier Maurice Duplessis planned to tackle in its first session in power.

"To properly affirm the priority of human capital over money capital," the Governor said, "we intend to direct the Provincial policy and legislation towards the protection and safeguard of human capital," said the speech.

SOLID FOUNDATIONS

Agrarian reforms will be undertaken by the Union Nationale, it was forecast, because the Government considers agriculture and colonization "the most solid foundations of all progress—whether economic or moral."

The position of youth is receiving the attention of the Ministry, Lieutenant-Governor Patenaude read. He said the Government would strike to "make the place for our young people to which they are entitled in the development of our province."

Continuation of the investigation of the Liberal administration under Premier Taschereau, by the public accounts committee of the Legislature, was forecast.

Titania's Palace Will Be on View Tomorrow Evening

Titania's Palace, priceless masterpiece of art containing some 4,000 treasures, which has attracted many hundreds of Victorians in the last few weeks, will be open tomorrow night from 7 to 9:30 o'clock for the benefit of office and store employees of the Hudson's Bay Company, where it is now being exhibited. Others who have not yet seen this creation of Sir Neville Wilkinson, K.C.V.O., are invited to attend.

The palace is dedicated to the cause of helping crippled children throughout the British Empire, and it has raised hundreds of thousands of dollars for this worthy work. All money contributed in Victoria will be turned over to the Queen Alexandra Solatium for Crippled Children.

CHAPTER XVIII

As Rosa entered the house, she decided she had better go up to the room that Shane had occupied as the guest of Soledad and see that he had not left essential articles scattered about, manlike.

He had not, she found. The room was immaculate—except for some torn papers in the fireplace. A match touched to them would clean them up.

She found matches, struck one, crouched to touch the flame to the paper. A line of writing jumped out and struck her.

"Why didn't you tell me you were engaged to Billie Porter, you old fox? Gosh, but you're certainly fatal to women. More power to you."

Slowly the match approached the paper, bit into a corner, flickered in little yellow runlets. Smoke rose. The papers curled, blackened.

For a moment Rosa crouched there, staring at the flames. Then, her face pale, her eyes angry, she rose.

Engaged... fatal to women... Huh!

Don Fernando's black mood was interrupted by the arrival of a Mexican youth from Soledad, with a hastily scrawled note.

Dear Fernando—
I wish you would come to see me. At once, please.

Rosa.

Fernando scowled at the note and scowled at the messenger.

"What's the matter?" he asked. "No, sir," said the boy. "Nothing wrong. Why?"

"Tell Miss Rosa that I'll wait a minute."

Should he answer the message? At least, right away? What trick was the girl up to now. She knew, of course, that he'd seen her kissing O'Hara. Was she now trying to cover up—pull the wool over his eyes? Square herself? No, he wouldn't go. Let things ride—until he happened to see. Evening would be soon enough for explanations.

He sought paper and ink; scrawled.

My dear Rosa—
Sorry I cannot go to Soledad just now, but—

And then he rose, tore the paper to bits.

"Tell Miss Rosa I will ride over immediately," he commanded the messenger.

He followed, shortly.

Rosa got up from a chair on the veranda when he dismounted. Faced him and without preliminaries said:

"Fernando, you have asked me to marry you. Many times I think—I think I had better do so at once."

Don Fernando's heart leaped. So this girl was to be his after all, eh? Surrender. But the picture he had seen that afternoon struck in his mind.

"I am honored, Rosa mia," he heard his voice saying smoothly. And then "I came near to offering assistance this afternoon. But—forgive me—I thought you would not welcome it."

"I'm sorry you didn't, Fernando."

said the girl. "I—I was taken by surprise."

"Shall I have the pleasure of re-proving Mr. O'Hara, cara mia?" he asked.

"Let us forget Mr. O'Hara," replied Rosa—and let herself be swept into Fernando's arms. Received the betrothal kiss.

"When, Rose—when?" asked the accepted lover.

"Soon," replied the girl. "A week. Will a week be too soon?"

"All too long," said Fernando. "But—as you wish, causima."

"Go, then, and tell Don Timoteo and my mother," said Rosa, drawing away. They are in the rose garden."

Fernando took his departure. He was glowing. His plans had worked out. Rose was his—and the Rancho Soledad.

The girl entered the house. Bused herself for a hurried moment with pen and paper. Then she summoned old Dona Maria, mistress of the servants, fat, motherly, and kind.

"Have this note sent at once to Mr. O'Hara," said the girl. "And understand yourself, and cause the others to understand, that I am no more at home to Mr. O'Hara," said the girl. "I am going to marry Don Fernando a week from today. That is all."

Dona Maria nodded, repeated her instructions, withdrew, her old lips taunt.

"The poor lad," she told herself. "And now that Fernando gets her! Que triste la vida! Que triste la vida!"

Dona Maria had seen much of the sadness of life.

It could not be said truthfully that the inexplicable action of the girl at Soledad gave any real pleasure to Shane O'Hara. At first he was for dismissing all women from his scheme of things, forever and ever, but a little reflection informed him that this would be paying to high a tribute to the sex.

The apple pie on his dining table he viewed at first with distaste. But when he perceived how fat it was in the middle, and how the sweet juice had run out here and there, and baked to a candylake consistency, giving promise of sufficient sweetness within. Shane ate the pie and found it good. Which was not bad philosophy.

Beneath these various thoughts was another—if it could be called a thought rather than an emotion. But it was one of those emotions which at least result in a formulated opinion, even though itself was amorphous.

Shane could not picture, as he put it, Rose Delane's going to the altar or even to a J.P. with Fernando Miller. He couldn't do it. Not any more than he could imagine an object being black and white at the same time. It didn't make sense. It wouldn't have made sense, he thought, even if he hadn't known either out of them, Fernando Miller, in spite of whatever American blood was in his veins, was a foreigner—Spanish. Mexican. His nature was foreign. His body and mind and soul, if he had one, were foreign. He didn't feel or think the way real Americans felt and thought. No, the picture of Rose Delane as Mrs. Fernando Miller just wouldn't come into focus.

And so, having disposed of the pie, and reached the conclusion that something would interfere to stop the marriage, and reflected that changes were worked quickly at Rancho Soledad, Shane turned his back upon the girl question and resumed consideration of a matter which had occupied his thoughts when Rose had come, pie in hand.

This was the matter of the killing of Black Sam.

The idea had entered his mind that whoever had killed the foreman of La Paloma was much more probably a fellow Mexican than an American. True, there might be certain Americans who felt that Black Sam had needed killing—but the sudden shot in the dark, perhaps from ambush, offering Black Sam no opportunity for defence... that saved of stuff from south of the Line. Moreover, the chances were that for any American who hated Sam, there were a dozen Mexicans who did, merely because he would naturally have a much larger acquaintance among them. It seemed to Shane, therefore, that the probability was that Mexican had done the murder.

This being the case, he argued, the chances were also in favor of the Mexican having been from the immediate vicinity rather than from distant parts. Merely because Black Sam must know a larger percentage of local Mexicans than he did of Tia Juana or Tecate, San Diego or Oceanside.

Assuming this much, that the murderer was a Mexican of the immediate vicinity—from San Felix or the ranches roundabout—what would be the Mexican impulse after the crime had been committed, to remain or to go away?

Shane could give himself no very good reason for feeling as he did about this, but he rather believed that the criminal would remove himself as soon as he could without ostentation. Even though suspicion of the crime rested upon him, Shane O'Hara, the real criminal would know that suspicion might also fall upon others. Hence, Shane argued, he would probably plan to absent himself as soon as he could do so without attracting undesired attention.

All of this was, Shane felt, mere groping, but it was about the best he could do. And so he determined to see how it would pan out; to see if any Mexican was known to be missing who had been present the day Black Sam had been killed.

And he might as well start with the three ranches which lay touching each other—La Paloma, Soledad, and Fernando's ranch, La Espanola.

It required little time or effort to satisfy himself concerning his own ranch.

Jose, having had the idea explained to him, summoned Ramon Estancia, and put the question to him.

"No, señor," said Ramon promptly. "There was nobody on the ranch except Sam and myself and my two boys. I myself and my two boys are still here. Sam—see you?" He saved a hand toward vague upper regions Black Sam had gone.

"Go then, Jose," Shane commanded, "and consult with some friend at Soledad."

Jose went and returned, shaking his head.

"None gone, Meester," he reported. "My friend Pepito knows them all. But I have told him: if one goes tonight—tomorrow—next day—you come tell me pre! queek huh? So he come, I betcha."

"Well, Jose, have you got a friend also at Rancho La Espanola?"

"Sure Meester," said the Mexican. "Me. I got friends all over. You want me go La Espanola now? All right, I go queek find out, I betcha."

That Body of Yours

(By James W. Barton, M.D.)

EATING MORE THAN THREE MEALS A DAY

As youngsters, returning from school at 3:30 or 4 o'clock in the afternoon it was our custom to eat a slice of bread and butter spread with brown sugar. If available, or white sugar otherwise. On this supply of "starchy" food we went out and played until the evening meal. We were ready and hungry for the evening meal despite this "extra" food between meals?

At a large university between the hours of 4 and 4:30 in the afternoon as many as 600 to 800 chocolate bars are sold every day.

Does this extra food interfere with the appetites of these students when the hour of the evening meal arrives? It does not.

What happens is that the starchy food at mid-afternoon gives the individual strength at which to play

As a matter of fact this much food—a chocolate bar, a banana, a slice of bread, and butter with sugar—is really all used up in supplying the energy to play, and the youngster does not feel weak or tired, but just naturally hungry when the evening meal time arrives. It is interesting therefore in reading "Diet and Physical Efficiency," written by Drs. Howard W. Haggard and Leon A. Grendberg, Yale University, of their experiments in giving food more frequently—five and six meals a day—instead of the regular three meals a day. They made tests on youngsters, college students, factory workers, and others, and were able to prove that during the period immediately after eating the individual was able to perform more work—making shoes, riding a stationary bicycle or other work—than while the stomach was empty. They showed that the working ability was at its lowest point immediately before breakfast.

These research workers believe that the quantity and the quality of food have received a great deal of attention in recent years, but that the distribution of diet has not received the attention it deserves.

They have been able to show that on the same amount of food the output of work of factory employees may be as much as 10 per cent greater by the five-meal-a-day method, than by eating the usual three meals a day.

This is an object lesson to those whose eat a very light breakfast and a very light lunch. Instead of waiting to eat a large meal in the evening a little "snack" at 11 a.m. and 4 p.m. should produce more working ability.

An American girl, about to visit England, was advised by a friend to see Lincoln Cathedral.

"Oh, indeed," said the girl, "is there a Lincoln Cathedral in England?"

"There is, and a superb building, too," was the reply.

"Say, now," she exclaimed, "wasn't it just too sweet of them to name it after our Abe?"

West Saanich Cagers Defeat Hoyle-Brown In Rough Hoop Game

Come From Behind to Chalk Up 25-21 Triumph in Opening Clash—Karl Young Is Star—Trade-Ats Troupe Jennings Florists

Turning what looked like certain defeat into a thrilling last-minute victory, West Saanich Mercantile cagers, last season's men's senior "B" champions, opened their 1936-37 campaign yesterday evening with a 25-21 triumph over Hoyle-Brown in the final fixture on the three-game programme presented by the Victoria and District Basketball League.

Making their bow in senior "B" company, Trade-Ats trounced Jennings Florists, 48-13, in the curtain-raiser. Sons of Canada, intermediate "A" boys quintette, turned out in natty new green and white uniforms for their initial league clash of the season with the Chinese Students, only to find out that the students had withdrawn from the hoop.

In an exhibition fixture staged to complete the card, the Canadians went down in a 24-22 defeat at the hands of the all-stars.

YOUNG IS STAR

Husky Karl Young, who jumps at centre, was the hero in the suburban triumph over Hoyle-Brown in the final attraction. Trailing their opponents until ninety seconds from time, West Saanich Mercantile staged a fighting rally which carried them to a great victory. After "Bud" Michell had tied the score at 21-21, Young sneaked through for the two baskets that gave his teammates their four-point margin.

Rough play crept into the fixture quite early and fouls were numerous. There was plenty of bumping, slapping and charging, some of it being exceptionally rough. However, the clubs struggled through it all and some of the fans seemed to be enjoying it, but for all that it was a long way from basketball.

TRADE-ATS WIN

Presenting plenty of scoring punch and ball-handling ability, Trade-Ats, quarter-finalists in the intermediate

KEEN TUSSELES ARE FEATURED

Three Extra-Hole Matches Highlight of Day's Play at Oak Bay Links

VERTIME battles featured the round matches in "B" class championship tournament at the Victoria Golf Club yesterday. In the championship proper one extra-hole tussle was played on the 18th green, while two other fixtures, one in the first round and the other in the semi-finals of the third flight, also went into extra holes. Miss Eleanor Heisterman stroked her way to the twentieth green in the championship to account for Mrs. C. W. Gamble, the lady who provided the opening upset of the meet by eliminating the tournament medalist on Tuesday. Mrs. E. P. Gillespie won the card test on Monday but fell before the steady stroking of Mrs. Gamble in her first round match.

Miss Heisterman faces Mrs. Rithet today in one of the semi-finals and Miss Betty Bechtel meets Mrs. J. H. Wilson in the other half of the draw. Mrs. Rithet scored a comparatively easy victory in disposing of Mrs. A. Gillespie, 7 and 6, while Miss Bechtel won from Miss Marion Prior on the last green, two up. Mrs. Wilson gained the semi by her 5 and 4 triumph over Mrs. J. Macdonald. Mrs. A. D. King went to the nineteenth to eliminate Mrs. Magrath in the first flight and Miss Magrath ended her argument with Miss Warner on the first extra hole in the third flight.

When Giants Upset Yanks in Tenth Frame

An epidemic of "erroritis" struck the New York Yankees in their Monday world series game with the cross-town Giants—and the Yanks lost, 5 to 4, in a ten-inning battle. This soundphoto pictures Lou Gehrig nabbed at home by the Giants' catcher, Gus Mancuso, in a sensational double play in the second inning. A grounder hit by Dickey started the double play, Schumacher, to Terry to Mancuso, who got the ball just before Gehrig reached the home plate. This soundphoto was transmitted from New York to San Francisco over telephone wires.

Pat Fraley Will Meet Harry Kent Saturday Evening

VICTORIOUS last week in the main event and semi-windup respectively, Pat Fraley and Harry Kent, heavy-weight mainmen, were yesterday booked for the main bout on Saturday's grappling card at the Tillamook gymnasium. Fraley, clever San Francisco squarmer, defeated Leo Numa Anderson in his last appearance, while Kent won from Jules Strongbow. They will go eight ten-minute rounds or the best two out of three falls. With a first-class main event match booked, promoter Fred Richardson is now working on the supporting card. Louie Newman, Victoria wrestler, who returned Tuesday after a successful trip on the road, is expected to get the call for the special event.

1:00—Mrs. F. J. D. Pemberton vs. Miss L. Bryden.

Second Flight

1:05—Mrs. Tyhurst vs. Miss J. Campbell.

SAANICH GROCERY SUFFERS BY FIRE

Stock and Living Quarters of Thomas Williamson Damaged While Owner Is Absent

Fire caused extensive damage to the Three Oaks Grocery, Wilkinson Road, near Wellington Avenue, and to living quarters of Thomas Williamson, proprietor, shortly after he left yesterday afternoon for Duncan. Saanich firemen, who battled the blaze for hours, said the fire apparently started in a rear wood shed. The loss was unestimated.

Gaining a strong hold in the lower floor, the fire swept through the grocery store, causing damage by smoke and heat to the stock. Leaping to the living quarters above, the flames cut the premises. Strenuous efforts by firemen prevented the flames from breaking through the roof. No one was injured at the time, and an investigation of the cause of the fire is under way.

McKeever Denies That Dodgers Are for Sale

Veteran Owner of Brooklyn Squad Says There Is No Truth That Colonel Huston Will Purchase Team—Series Players Depart for Homes

By SCOTTY REBTON Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 7 (AP)—World series ball players scrambled out of the Big Town today, leaving behind an assortment of conflicting rumors, a horde of second guessers and instructions where to send their world series cheques.

The ageless rumor that Col. T. L. Huston, former part-owner of the Brooklyn Dodgers, would buy the team, was partly spiked by Stephen W. McKeever, eighty-one-year-old president of the Dodgers.

"I have not seen Colonel Huston, he has never made me an offer, and the club is not for sale," roared McKeever.

This failed to agree, however, with a statement from Ford Frick, National League president.

"Huston offered $1,500,000 for the Dodgers last spring," Frick said, "and the colonel told me during the world series he still was interested."

McKeever made the only other official announcement of the day, saying Casey Stengel's successor as manager of the Dodgers would not be named for some time.

Yankee Manager Joe McCarthy left word he was not to be disturbed.

The series batting here, Jake Powell, was the happiest man in town, but he didn't stay around long.

"Oh, I'm going home to Washington to see my wife and my little girl," he said, "and then we're all going on the vacation somewhere. This should be the happiest winter of my life."

RUMORS FLYING

With the series over, the peddlers of legend were busy. Central figures in their stories were (1) Rogers Hornsby, repeated on the way out as manager of the Browns; (2) Chuck Dressen, Cincinnati pilot who supposedly does not fit into the schemes of Warren Giles, new general manager of the Reds; (3) Jimmy Wilson, Phillies manager, who is rumored to be tottering; and (4) Bill Terry, who is said to be moving into the Giants' front office and turning his old job over to Bill McKeever of the Boston Bees.

Miller denied Matthews could "make any night," as Promoter Nate Duxman has asserted. Matthews likes to fight at about 165 pounds, Miller said, and expressed doubt that he could come into the ring much lighter. He said he had demanded a $2,500 weight forfeit to assure that Matthews would come in between 160 and 161 pounds.

Miller added that he had been offered $5,000 to match Steele with Matthews at St. Louis. He expressed doubt the fight would prove an exceptional drawing card in Seattle.

STEELE MAY FACE ST. LOUIS NEGRO

TACOMA, Oct. 7 (AP)—Dave Miller, manager of world middleweight champion Freddie Steele, said today he would "sit tight for a couple of days" before doing anything about a proposed fight in Seattle with Allen Matthews, St. Louis negro.

Miller denied Matthews could "make any night," as Promoter Nate Duxman has asserted. Matthews likes to fight at about 165 pounds, Miller said, and expressed doubt that he could come into the ring much lighter. BOWLING

RAY'S MARKET FIVEPEN LEAGUE opened play at the Olympic Alley last night with four teams swinging into action. The No. 1 squad from the Fort Street store dropped three fixtures to the No. 2 trundlers, while the No. 3 aggregation swept three tussles from the No. 4 line-up. Jack Cuddell topped the bowlers with a total of 640, scoring 255 in one of his games. T. Johnston was next highest with 558 for the three games.

PLANS COMPLETED FOR APPEARANCE OF PERRY

English Star to Show on Willows Courts Saturday

World's Tennis Champion Will Make Initial Appearance at Victoria Lawn Tennis Club Against Three Local Players—Match to Start at 1:45—Big Crowd Expected at Performance

Fred Perry, England's No. 1 tennis player and world's ranking number one, will arrive here on Saturday, the day of his scheduled appearance at the Victoria Lawn Tennis Club courts, Fort Street. Perry, who will come by way of Seattle, is expected to arrive in the morning, but as late as yesterday officials were not sure of the hour of his arrival.

Dr. E. W. Book, president of the British Columbia Lawn Tennis Association, and Western vice-president of the G. L. T. A., stated yesterday that the tour being made by Perry is under the auspices of the B.C.L.T.A., with committees at Vancouver and here working in conjunction with the Provincial body in the staging of the fixtures. The matches will be played on No. 1 court at the local club. Ample seating accommodation has been provided for the large crowd of tennis enthusiasts who will be expected to see the English net star in action. The court has been well protected, and is reported by Secretary "Pop" Jackson to be in excellent condition.

LOCALS TO PLAY

Leading local netters will provide the opposition for Perry in the two singles fixtures. While in the doubles one of the Victoria players will team up with the Englishman. Truly a great player, a master showman and a crowd-pleaser, Perry's appearance here should attract one of the largest crowds to ever witness a tennis exhibition on the local courts.

Reg. Corfield, chairman of the Victoria committee, announced yesterday that Don Campbell, city hard courts champion, and Lieut.-Commander J. C. I. Edwards, Gulf Island title-holder, have been named to oppose Fred Perry in the singles. In the doubles, A. C. Brand will team up with the visiting star and will play "Bud" Hosking and Reg. Corfield. The first match will commence at 1:45 o'clock.

Tickets for the fixtures have been moving at a fast clip. Up-island reservations are pouring in at Hocking & Forbes, ticket headquarters, and judging by the way the pasteborders are moving, approximately 1,500 persons will witness the appearance here of England's premier tennis player.

MIDNIGHT BELL GAINS VERDICT

Outpoints Gordie Wallace in Hard Fight—Billy Townsend Scores Knockout

VANCOUVER, Oct. 2.—Midnight bell, colored Texas welterweight, took a decision from Gordon Wallace, Canadian welterweight champion, in a ten-round exhibition bout here tonight.

Both fighters were nearly out on their feet at the end of the match, Wallace dropping to his hands on the last round.

Wallace held back and forced the colored boy to take the offensive in the first couple of rounds and did his most effective work while coming out of clinches. Wallace failed to get in any telling blows.

Warned by referee. The Texan easily captured the fourth round with a whirlwind attack, landing several solid rights and lefts to the body. He continued the attack in the next, but was warned several times by the referee for hitting.

The sixth round was fairly even, with the edge going to Wallace, but Bell came out in the seventh with another flash of speed and several times had Wallace in difficulties against the ropes.

In the eighth round Bell found Wallace a head repeatedly with hard right hooks, but the Vancouver boy came right back in the next round with a slight edge.

Both tried hard to land a knockout blow in the last round, but neither had enough power left. They stood toe to toe and hammered each other until the bell.

Townsend scores kayo. Billy Townsend, former holder of the Canadian welterweight title, knocked out Billy (Swede) Olsen, of Portland, Ore., in the second round of a scheduled six-round semi-final.

Roth mixed freely right from the bell and showed plenty of speed. Several times Olsen came in fast in an attempt to land with his right to Townsend's face, but the former champ was too fast and made him miss.

HUDSON'S BAY AND SOLDIERS PLAY TO DRAW

Score Is 1-1 in Hayward Cup Fixture—Wilkinson and McConnell Score

HAYWARD CUP SERIES
W. L. D. F. A. Pts.
Navy 1 0 1 6 2 3
Hudson's Bay 0 0 3 5 3 3
Longshoremen 0 0 2 3 3 2
Garrison 0 1 1 3 1 1
Wanderers 0 1 0 4 0 0

Yesterday's Result
Hudson's Bay 1, Garrison 1.

Battling in defence of the Hayward Cup, Hudson's Bay mid-week soccer eleven gained their third straight draw of the 1936-37 series, yesterday afternoon at the Royal Athletic Park, when they played to a 1-1 score with the Garrison. The split decision enabled the Bays to pull up level with Spencers and Navy, side leaders, in the chase for the silverware.

Garrison opened the scoring thirty-five minutes after the start of the fixture when Annie Wilkinson, inside right, beat Travis, Hudson's Bay goalie, with a well-directed shot to the corner of the net. Four minutes after the break the green and gold-wheeled boys knotted the score when McConnell, sturdy inside left, sagged the rigging with a knee-high shot to the corner of the goal.

After an early Garrison offensive in the initial stages, the Bays took up the attack, but erratic shooting by their front-rankers spoilt their many scoring opportunities. They had more shots at the goal than the soldiers, but few that were really threatened for the net were handled by Glendinning, Garrison goalie.

Les Kennedy, stellar centre-half of the Hudson's Bay, and the best man on the field, sent in the shot of the match in the first half, a high drive that hit the corner of the goal posts from well outside the penalty area.

WILKINSON SCORES
Garrison, always trying, finally broke the deadlock when Annie Wilkinson, inside right and the best man on the soldiers' front line, beat Travis with a well-directed shot to the corner of the goal, thirty-five minutes after the start of the fixture. It was a smart goal and served as an excellent christening ceremony for Wilkinson's new boots.

Hudson's Bay came back before the half, but there was no change in the score when the players walked off the field for the rest interval.

As the final sabbat opened, Jack Cook replaced Douglas at centre forward for the Garrison. His appearance on the Tommies' front line made them more dangerous.

SETS EQUALIZER
Four minutes after the resumption the Bays knotted the score at 1-1 when McConnell picked the corner after PAN had crossed from the right lane.

There was no further scoring during the match, but the Garrison had the better of the territorial play. Their forwards combined better than the Bays, while their halves were always right on top of the play. Hudson's Bay inside men chose to play well back and were seldom in position when needed for the second half attack, which, dangerous at intervals, was for the greater part confined to long-range shooting.

Cook, Garrison centre forward, retired before the end of the game and the Tommies finished the match with ten men.

McMillan refereed, and the teams were:

GARRISON: Glendinning, H. Richard, Watt, Watson, Wallace, Edwards, Lovell, Whitton, Douglas, Cook, Goldwell and Thorburn.

HUDSON'S BAY: Travis, O'Connell, Lacey, Spence, Wilkinson, Les Kennedy, Elia Wyatt, Oakman, McConnell, English, Douglas, Cook, Goldwell and Thorburn.

Jaakey Powell Hero Of World Series Is Opinion of Experts

Young Outfielder, Who Wanted to Quit Baseball Three Years Ago, Is Outstanding Player of Annual Fall Classic—Headed Batters With .455

By PAUL MCKELSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Alvin Jacob Powell, who became so disgusted with baseball three years ago he wanted to quit the game for a policeman's beat, today was hailed as the world series hero of 1936. Baseball experts almost unanimously rated the hustling outfielder, who came from Washington in the first round of the playoffs last June, as the hero not only of the series but of the entire season.

Washington's lead in batting with a .455 average and top all the sluggers in runs scored, but his perfect fielding, brilliant base running and hustle were big factors in the Yankees' drive to the world's championship.

Powell got ten hits in twenty-two chances, drove in five runs, and scored eight. He handled eleven chances, two of them tough ones.

Back tracking the big show: Greatest Surprise—The hitting by the pitchers, foremost Lefty "Goofy" Gomez, who drove in three runs with two hits—almost as many as he got all season.

Gamest Player—Colonel William Hurt, pilot of the Giants. Bull's knee hurt like a ball all week but he saved in from the first to last out.

Greatest Boner—It was pulled three times by Terry. Someone told him Bill Dickey had a bad throwing arm. Terry sent three men down to steal second on the strength of that advice and Dickey nailed them all with feet to spare.

Biggest Disappointment—The one Mr. Dickey, one of the American League's greatest hitters. He got but three hits in twenty-five chances, a world series batting average of .125.

Lightest Hitter—Burgess Whitehead. He got one single in twenty-one tries.

Greatest Catch—Ripple's rolling catch of Red Rolfe's line drive in the second inning of the fifth game.

Best Infield Play—Dick Bartlett's running bare-hand pickup and toss-out of Frankie Crosetti in the sixth game.

Worst Jam—Hank Schumacher got in and out of that one in the third inning of the fifth game when he loaded the bases for "murderers" row and got out alive.

Wildest Throw—Travis Jackson's wild peg to Terry in the third game. The ball almost landed in the box seats.

Biggest Heist—Pat Freedy's Pitzmon's was the victim when he mugged a great four-hit pitching performance, the best of the series, by trying to spear Frank Crosetti's hard smash—one that ricocheted off his glove and lost the game.

A meeting of the Victoria Athletic Club will be held this evening at the Elks Club, Douglas Street, at 8 o'clock. Important business will be dealt with and a large turnout of members is expected.

Jack McKenzie will be in the chair.

FAT EDMUNDS QUILTS SQUAD

Well-Known Fullback Leaves Nanaimo City—Gives Several Reasons

NANAIMO, B.C., Oct. 2.—Playing Manager Ernie Edmunds has resigned from the Nanaimo City Football Club, effective following next Saturday's game.

Edmunds declared, at a meeting last night, that he was held responsible for the team's losses when he did not pick the eleven.

"After Sunday's game, there was considerable criticism, and I am not going to take the blame," he said.

He asserted that for the last two years the "City" had been riding along on its reputation. New blood, he said, is hard to obtain. "There is no longer a spot here for promising new men from outside," he went on, "and if you endeavor to bring a man up from junior ranks all you get is criticism."

Edmunds declared that there was absolutely no issue between himself and Nanaimo newspapers.

STATES COMPLETION OF WEST COAST ROAD VITAL TO VICTORIA

In stressing the need for the immediate completion of the West Coast Road to Port Renfrew, F. W. Leeming, at a meeting of Ward Five Liberal Association last night, pointed out that, due to lack of overland transportation facilities, West Coast residents were overlooked in the planning of the city. Leeming, who he claimed, "was in London as the official representative of the city with a noose around his neck and his feet dangling from the ground," Mr. Graham said the representatives were already in London and mentioned the cost of the mission, and said he considered it would be money wasted if some action was not taken to relieve the position of the city's chief magistrate.

Following the two main addresses, there was a short period for discussion and a resolution was passed before the meeting adjourned. The resolution states that should the action be withdrawn from the court, the Mayor would be immediately advised by cable.

PRAHA, Oct. 2.—(CP-Havas)—Devaluation of between 10 and 15 per cent in Czechoslovak crown will be presented to Parliament shortly with the approval of the Cabinet. The new devaluation law was approved by the Cabinet last night. The crown is currently quoted at about 40 cents with the par value at 48 cents.

WANT MAYOR FREE TO ACT

Ratepayers Suggest Obstacles Confronting Financial Mission Be Removed

Embodiment of a request for the discontinuance of an action alleged to have been filed in Supreme Court here against Mayor David Leeming and Alderman Percy R. Brown, seeking disqualification on the grounds of an alleged infraction of a section of the Municipal Act, a resolution was passed on a vote of thirteen to eight, at a gathering of ratepayers in the City Hall last night.

The meeting, it was stated, was not sponsored by any official organization, but was called by R. Margison and Frank Graham, ratepayers, who were the principal speakers in support of the resolution.

The main object of the gathering, it was declared, was to remove obstacles in the way of the Mayor in carrying out his official duties while in London on a financial mission.

"The action," it was said, prevented Mayor Leeming from acting as the city's official representative.

SPEAKERS WARNED
George McGregor was chairman and at the outset warned persons who intended to speak to be guarded in their references to the alleged action before the courts, but said he would permit discussion of means to withdraw it. John Day said he also desired to warn speakers from touching upon a matter before the court, and further stated he had a stenographer and was "going to issue writs against those who attack the writ in any way."

McMargison read a type-written statement, which dealt mainly with taxation matters and the necessity of support of the citizens if the financial mission to London was to be a success.

When Mr. Margison had finished, Frank Le Roy, former president of the Victoria Ratepayers' Association, called for adjournment, claiming the meeting was "not only illegal, but wholly improper." The motion was not put to the meeting.

TAXATION PROBLEMS
Mr. Graham spoke briefly concerning the taxation problem and dealt with the position of Mayor Leeming, who he claimed, "was in London as the official representative of the city with a noose around his neck and his feet dangling from the ground."

Mr. Graham said the representatives were already in London and mentioned the cost of the mission, and said he considered it would be money wasted if some action was not taken to relieve the position of the city's chief magistrate.

Following the two main addresses, there was a short period for discussion and a resolution was passed before the meeting adjourned. The resolution states that should the action be withdrawn from the court, the Mayor would be immediately advised by cable.

Jane Dixon Says

TODAY'S STORY IS ABOUT A MAN WHO APPARENTLY BELIEVES THAT A HUSBAND'S FRIENDSHIP PERMITS HIM TO MAKE LOVE TO HIS WIFE.

What damage can be done is often done in the name of friendship. One false friend is more dangerous to our well-being than a dozen sworn enemies.

A sworn enemy gives us a chance by crying "en garde". A false friend destroys us by putting poison in the cake. We may be able to take care of our enemies; but deliver us from our false friends.

Dear Miss Dixon: I am married and have a good husband who loves me and trusts me.

I love him and want to conduct myself in a manner that will never give him cause to doubt my being worthy of his full confidence.

I was orphaned at the age of six and my grandmother raised me. She was one of the best of women. She taught me not only to shun evil but the very appearance of it.

EMBARRASSED BY HUSBAND'S FRIEND

My problem is this: My husband is away most of the time, and has been for more than a year. He travels in South America, Europe, Asia and Africa, and is gone for three months at a time.

He has a friend here with whom he has been very chummy for a long time. This friend calls on me quite frequently. I feel I should have no man, even though he's my husband's best friend, calling on me during his absence. It embarrasses me, and I don't know just what I should do about it.

Also I have a near neighbor whose husband is away a great deal of the time. She has suggested that she and I go out with my husband's friend and another young man she knows, and have a good time. She says if my husband loves and trusts me, he will be glad I'm being entertained and that, beside, he never need know.

My husband's friend has always been very nice, but now he seems to be a little more familiar every time he calls. Recently he followed me to my kitchen, then to my bedroom on the pretext of talking about some people we knew.

SHE FEELS CONTEMPTUOUS NOW

Grandmother taught me, and my own mind confirms, the saying: "Familiarity breeds contempt." I feel contemptuous toward the man who took these liberties, but because of the close friendship between him and my husband, I hesitate to do anything definite about it. There is no specific thing that he has done that would justify my being rude to him.

The last time he called I put on my hat before he reached the door and excused myself, saying I had an engagement with my dressmaker.

What is your answer to this problem?—Perplexed.

Answer: My answer is the same as yours. Encourage friendliness, but discourage familiarity.

When your husband's friend takes liberties in your home, inform him by your manner that you resent the intrusion. Be cool and formal. You may be sure he will understand.

If he persists, tell him quite frankly that you would rather he did not give the appearance of an intimacy which does not exist. Be casual and kind in your explanation, as though you were consulting with him for the protection of the three of you. When he followed you into your bedroom, you should have whirled about, gone into the living-room, and remained there regardless of what else you had to do.

You are an intelligent and a good woman, and I'm convinced you have reason for suspicion of the man's purpose. You can save his friendship for your husband and for yourself if you will take the situation—by—hand—now and definitely block any further encroachment on your privacy.

As for the near neighbor—she's easily settled. Just tell her you are not interested in bargaining about with other men. Dismiss the matter, and if she reopens it, then change the subject.

Start a travel fund. Put in your pennies and your nickels and your dimes. Perhaps you can find some interesting way to earn a little money while your husband is away on his business trips. Then, some day, you might take one of those fascinating journeys with him.

Surprising how pennies here and there grow into dollars.
